HOW WE DRIVE ENGAGEMENT:

Validated through Research

Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) researchers studied BallotReady’s effect on turnout from 2015 - 2018, finding consistent increases across elections. Our 2018 results showed a 20-point boost compared to voters’ turnout scores.

Analyst Institute
In 2019, BallotReady and Young Invincibles partnered with Analyst Institute to determine whether nonpartisan voter guides increased turnout among young voters and voters of color. The study found a meaningful increase in turnout, with the largest impact among voters with low turnout scores.

We investigated how large a difference remains after adjusting for other observable factors, the most important of which is past voting history. Once we do this, we find that BallotReady users are 20 percentage points more likely to turn out than non-users.”

Dear Friend,

Based on the information you've provided to Vote.org, you're eligible to vote by absentee ballot.

Your state has a policy referred to as "no-excuse absentee voting," which means you don’t need a special reason to apply for an absentee ballot. Any your state voter can request an absentee ballot and vote from home.

If you’re not already signed up, our tool can help you request a no-excuse absentee ballot in under 2 minutes. Once your request is approved by your local election official, the ballot will be mailed to your home:

APPLY FOR AN ABSENTEE BALLOT

After you receive your ballot, just make sure you fill it out and return it to your local election official before the return deadline.

Absentee voting is a secure and established part of our American electoral system. Every state has absentee voting. Some states limit eligibility to voters who meet certain criteria. But your state doesn’t have such restrictions — any registered your state voter is eligible to vote absentee.

Absentee ballots are secure.
Every state has an established method for securely processing mailed-in ballots.

Each absentee ballot is barcoded and is specific to the individual voter, which ensures that each individual voter can only vote once. Ballots returned in an envelope with no barcode are rejected. Every returned absentee ballot envelope is signed by the voter, and each signature is verified against official signatures already on file. States use Signature Judges to gauge the validity of signatures on ballots.
